

St John's Lodge University Scheme

Are You A University Student?
Have You Ever Wondered About Freemasonry?
Is There A Connection?

Tradition and continuity are just two of the values that characterise the relationship between Freemasonry and universities. It was more than 200 years ago that the first university Lodge – Apollo University Lodge – was founded in Oxford in 1818. St John's Lodge is a local Masonic Lodge for students, alumni and staff members from University of Northampton. We have over 25 members from a wide range of backgrounds.

Universities & Freemasonry

The United Grand Lodge of England established the Universities Scheme in 2005 and introducing Freemasonry's important values to a new generation. There are now 87 University Lodges in England and Wales.

All these Lodges welcome new members and those wishing to become Freemasons, who are undergraduates, postgraduates, senior members of the university and alumni, ranging in age from 18 upwards.

St John's Lodge meets at the Freemasons Hall, Sheaf Close, Northampton. The Lodge dates back to 1919 and in 2020 the Lodge celebrated its centenary. It was then relaunched as the first University Scheme Lodge in the Province of Northamptonshire and Huntingdonshire

Student engagement is at the heart of the Universities Scheme and remains a core priority for scheme Lodges and its members. The scheme gives our members a great opportunity to make long-lasting friendships and increase their social interaction especially if you are studying away from family and friends, as well as providing support and offering the right tools to build self-confidence and life skills that last far beyond their time at university.
